The macchiavellian wants power the stoic endures it the daoist enjoys the flower the confucianist taxes the floor it's in Newton called the universe's bluff whereas religion says you choose your path.
The nihilist stares as he dispairs while the absurdist jumps down stairs Moneymen and politicians one big bad batch of vermin they produce workers and soldiers for "everyone's gain".
But while manure birthes flower every once in a while..
We invented the automated lawnmower
